

IPMA Event on Project Management in Hong Kong,
Saturday 26 July 2014 at Commercial Regal Kowloon Hotel

25 June 2014,

Dear Sir/Madam,

It is our pleasure to inform you that according to the « building influence » strategy of the International Project Management Association, the Executive Board of IPMA will organise its next meeting in the Asia Pacific Region. Beside the usual ExBo meeting, it is planned to have side meetings, communication and a special event on Project Management which will be held in Hong Kong on Saturday 26 July 2014 at the Commercial Regal Kowloon Hotel.

The objective of the event is to share the latest trends of the profession and the development of IPMA in particular. The event will be the opportunity to support member associations in the region and to develop their project management activities in a sustainable manner. In parallel, the event will focus on building influence in the region as well as sharing information about IPMA, and attracting interest from new potential members wishing to join the international federation.

The event will also be a great occasion to understand needs in the countries of the Asia Pacific Region and share knowledge and experience in the management of the member organisations.

The programme and speakers of the event include:

Welcome –Mladen Radujkovic, President of IPMA and host in Hong Kong

Future trends of the project management profession: Reinhard Wagner, Vice President of IPMA, Awards, Research & Standards

IPMA today and in the future - Prof. Mladen Radujkovic, President of IPMA

How APM (Association for Project Management UK) has raised the level of PM in UK / benefits to other Member association with the example of the APM-PMAF (Project Management Association in Finland) license agreement - Andrew Bragg, Vice President of IPMA, Administration & Finance and Chief Executive of the UK Association, APM

The importance of certification of competences and the future new IPMA Competence Baseline, Nuno Ponces, VP Certification
